

SOUTH BEND TO PAY HOMAGE TO FALLEN HEROES

Entire City to Uncover and Face East at 11 O'clock in Honor of Dead.

During this time, people are requested to come work as far as possible and during the period allow their minds to dwell upon the noble sacrifices made by soldiers of all nations in the world war. Factory whistles will blow for one minute at 11:10, to signal the close of the 10 minute period.

Coincident with this spectacle, awe-inspiring and magnificent in its acknowledgment of the services rendered by those departed who fell in defense of the flag, special programs, arranged for all of the schools in which the school children will generally take part, will have begun.

Veterans T. Speak.
These programs will include five-minute patriotic addresses by veterans of the World War. The ceremonies as conducted in the schools will, in the point of attendance and general participation, be the most important of the day's activities.

The local activities, attendant upon Armistice day, comprise a number of patriotic affairs covering two days. Thursday night members of the American Legion gathered with their ladies in a monster Armistice day dance at the Oliver hotel, inaugurating the celebration activities. The South Bend Woman's club met at their club rooms and, heading a program rich in its variety of ceremony and music, Rev. Davis, delivered a patriotic address. Following Rev. Davis, Commander MacDonald gave a brief talk on incidents in army life that happened overseas. The meeting was open to the general public. Mrs. E. E. Whitehill, chairman of the Current History department of the club, presided. The subject of Rev. Davis address was "Disarmament and Bolshevism."

At 11:30 o'clock, will be held the Community service at the Blackstone theater. This Community service is in line with the request forthcoming in a recent proclamation by the president, calling upon patriotic citizens to assemble for the day. At this service, the Rev. U. S. Davis, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, will preside. The Blackstone theater orchestra, assisted by the Ampion quartet, Mrs. J. A. Bonds, soloist, Hal Van Alken, violinist, and Mrs. James cover, pianist, will furnish the musical program. Prominent clergy, representing Jewish, Catholic and Protestant creeds, will take part. The services will last 15 minutes.

The program follows:
Song—"Star Spangled Banner".... Francis Scott Key
Reading of Scripture..... Rabbi Albert G. Minda
The Prayer..... Rev. E. G. Johnson
Address..... Father George J. Finnegan, C.S.C.
Dean of Seminary of Notre Dame
Chaplain 137th Field Artillery
Song—"America"..... S. F. Smith
At 2:30 o'clock the Coughlin Mothers' club and the Lincoln school Teacher-Parents club will hold meetings at the respective schools.

Lower Flags at Sunset.
Following the lowering of the flags, raised at sunrise, to be kept unfurled until sunset, the first activity of the evening will be a dinner given by the Lions club at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium at 6 o'clock. Thirty-five world war veterans, inmates of Hawthorn hospital, will be the guests. Prominent speakers will be heard in patriotic addresses.

The big mass meeting will be held at the High school auditorium from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. One of the most prominent features among the many speakers of the day will be Indiana's secretary of state, Major Ed Jackson, who will deliver the principal address at the evening meeting. The mass meeting, at which the secretary will speak, will be presided over by A. R. MacDonald, commander of the American Legion post 50.

Following is the program of the High school auditorium mass meeting:
Selections..... High School Orchestra
National Anthem..... Entire Audience and High School Orchestra
Trooping of Colors.....
Invocation..... Veterans Organizations
The Rt. Rev. Bishop John Hazen White.
Patriotic Vocal Solo..... Miss Raye McKenna
Address..... Hon. Ed. Jackson, Secretary of State of Indiana.
Scripture Reading.....
Prayer..... Rabbi Albert G. Minda
Patriotic Solo..... Mr. Elton Crepeau
America..... Entire Audience and High School Orchestra.

CONFEREES GIVEN TAX REVISION BILL AFTER MANY TILTS

Iowan Heads Insurgents.
Among the "insurgents" supporting the Mondell motion was Rep. Dickinson, of Iowa, a leader of the group who announced Wednesday, that an agreement had been made with the majority managers to let the bill go to conference without instructions with the understanding that the house would vote separately on the surtax amendment before the conferees reached any agreement on it.

Having temporarily bridged the gap in his own party on this question, majority leaders apparently had expected no opposition to their plan to have the conferees undisturbed in the course of the debate on the Garrett resolution. Rep. Mondell intimated that there had been bad faith on the democratic side. This was denied by Reps. Garret and Garner of Texas, ranking democrat in the ways and means committee.

Urging adoption of the Garrett resolution, Reps. Garner and Crisp, democrat, Georgia, charged that the house never would get an opportunity for a straight-out vote on the fifty per cent rate if the bill got to conference without the managers being instructed. Republican majority spokesmen said a vote had been promised by the leaders and that their word should be accepted.

U. S. FORCES HAITI ASSEMBLY OUT

Dissolution of Body by Yankee Troops Told Before
Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Dissolution of the Haitian assembly which had refused to adopt a new constitution permitting ratification of a treaty with the United States, was announced by the demands of the American government, was ordered by the American expeditionary command under "orders from Washington," Brig. Gen. Ell C. Cole of the marine corps testified Thursday before a senate committee investigating the American occupation.

Gen. Cole, who commanded the first expedition of marines sent to Haiti, said he had informed President D'Artigue that "he must issue a decree dissolving the assembly," adding that he carried with him "on the visit to the presidential residence a military decree to the same effect for use in case the president refused to accede to the demand. His instructions, the general said, were to get the decree from D'Artigue if possible, but to use military force if necessary.

The treaty between the two countries required a revision of the Haitian constitution, the witness said, in order that the treaty provisions might be legalized, and the breach between the Haitian assembly and the president was over adoption of three of these revisions, namely those authorizing foreign ownership of land in Haiti, giving foreigners the same rights before domestic courts as nationals possessed, and giving the right of diplomatic intervention in damage cases.

The assembly not only refused to incorporate these points in a new constitution, but even refused to vote on the point of ratifying a new constitution from which the points were lacking. He said the D'Artigue government had prepared a constitution in accordance with terms of the treaty, but had been sent to Washington "for approval and correction." The Haitian president, he added, "spilled the beans" by making public all the correspondence bearing on this draft.

United States, the advisory committee named by Pres. Harding to "advise and assist" the American delegates. The committee completed its organization by the authorization of six sub-committees to act as interpretive agencies for American public opinion on the questions before the conference.

By exchange among the participating nations, final agreement was reached on the program for the opening day, last minute touches were added to physical arrangements in the conference hall, and every detail of the preparations was completed so that nothing would remain to be done during tomorrow's season of mourning.

U. S. To Take Lead.
Unless all surface indications are deceiving, the United States alone among the powers will be ready to come forward at the outset with a concrete proposal for armament limitation. This plan, relating primarily to naval problems, therefore, appears to be destined to become the first important topic of negotiations, although counter proposals are expected to be brought in later and the discussion is believed likely to lead the conference very quickly to a consideration of various far-fung questions of diplomatic policy.

As the opening hour approaches, there is manifest a feeling of growing optimism among many of the delegates, coupled with a determination not to permit the conference to stray into troublesome fields where it has no proper concern. The British delegation is making its plans for a six weeks session and most of the other national groups are almost as hopeful of quick accomplishment.

Here's Official Program for World Parley

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The official program for the first day of the armament conference was issued Thursday by the state department. It follows:
"1—The first meeting of the conference will be held on Saturday, November 12, at 10:30 A. M. at the Continental Memorial hall, (hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution).
"2—The doors are to be closed to the public at 10:15 A. M., and it is requested that the delegates will be in their places not later than 10:25.
"3—The order of proceedings will be as follows:
Prayer will be offered by Rev. W. S. Abernethy, D. D. pastor of Calvary Baptist church of Washington.
"The president of the United States will then address the conference.
"In accordance with the desire which has been expressed on behalf of the mission, the sponsors will be made to the president's address and the president will retire at his conclusion.
"The secretary of state of the United States will suggest that the conference proceed with its organization.
"The election of the presiding officer of the conference will follow.
"The presiding officer will then deliver an address.
"After the selection of Sec'y. General and committees on program and procedure it will be proposed that the conference adjourn to meet on Tuesday, November 15, 11 A. M., at Continental Memorial hall.

Farrar Suing
Actor-Husband
For A Divorce

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The divorce action threatened last September by Geraldine Farrar, grand opera singer, against Lou Tellegen, her actor husband, after he had been instituted, it was learned Thursday through proceedings before Supreme Court Justice Guy.

Counsel for Miss Farrar and her husband appeared before Justice Guy to argue the case. The claim that certain allegations in the nature of a counter claim for separation be stricken from the document. These allegations referring to cruelty on the part of Miss Farrar, were stricken from the document.

Miss Farrar and her husband already are parties to a suit for separation begun last August in Westchester county by Tellegen. He asserted his wife had deserted him and that her conduct for several months preceding her alleged desertion amounted to cruelty within the legal meaning of the term.

The divorce action, it was said, was begun in this city two weeks ago. The summons and complaint were served on Mr. Tellegen immediately and he readily submitted his answer over which today's argument of counsel developed. In his answer Mr. Tellegen named the same state of facts as obtained in his suit for separation and asked that the divorce be refused and a separation granted instead. In his suit for separation Tellegen alleged that his wife treated him with cruelty and refused to act as his wife. Nature of the charges made by Miss Farrar in the divorce suit was not made public.

and the spoken tributes to the dead. There were some like those who stood boys from France, who stood awed and abashed at the solemn majesty that had come to this crowd. They placed their wreaths in wordless praise, their wounds and the eyes of that great, endless river making them awkward; their crutches and canes tapping on the cold stones as the shuffed back into the obscurity they craved.

Black-Gowned Women.

Came, too, black-gowned women, many bowed and gray with age and sorrow, and all wearing in pride the golden star that tells of a son who died over there. They brought all ways with their flowers the great stars that bring to this unknown son of liberty a message from those comrades whose names stand above all others in the roll of the nation's servants: the great scroll of those who, like him, died for the flag.

As the hours moved by the great reaches of the chamber seemed all too small to house the growing mass of flowers. As each cluster was set in place, roses that blossomed in Canada and South Africa, peonies that thrust up their slender stems through blood drenched Flanders fields; and flowers of every color and hue that blossomed under American skies, the air grew heavy with fragrance. Soldier guards stepped out to move each tribute after it had been set, and the long, rounded sweep of granite wall was banked with wreaths and greens over its whole length and every vantage point over the stone floor was a weight of beauty, its share of honor for the brave dead.

MINE UNION HEAD WARNS OF BREAK AT PEORIA MEET

Farrington Says "Go Slow" in Proposed Aid to Kansas Workers.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 10.—Warning that proposed aid to striking Kansas mine workers might mean a break with the international miners' organization was sounded by Pres. Frank Farrington at the convention of Illinois district mine workers here Thursday night.

A resolution providing for an assessment totalling $90,000 to aid the striking Kansas miners is to come before the convention Friday. It was pointed out that the Kansas miners have been ordered back to work by Tuesday on penalty of dismissal from the United Mine Workers of America and that in case of their failure to comply Illinois miners would be supporting non-union workers should the resolution pass.

Pres. Farrington warned the delegates to go slow in their decisions. "I hope the convention votes favorably on the resolution," he said. "I hope you unanimously decide to contribute to the support of the Kansas miners. However, be not fooled by the outcome. We are liable to face a war with the international organization and in this case we must go the limit until one side or the other is forced to surrender."

Farrington said if the resolution is approved he would lead the fight. "They may suspend us," he said, "they may even take our charter. A resolution demanding that Pres. Lewis resign may be introduced tomorrow."

PEACE IN NEW YORK MILK WAR FAR OFF

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Another hope of early restoration of peaceful milk delivery through Greater New York went glimmering late Thursday when Patrick D. Fox, president of the Borden Farms Products company, rejected Health Commissioner Copeland's proposal for separate negotiations by the distributing corporations with their striking employees.

Mr. Fox told Dr. Copeland his company would refuse absolutely to deal with the Milk Wagon Drivers' union in any way, and that it was not prepared to replace the strikers. A resolution demanding that the strikers be replaced was adopted by the union. The strikers could return, he said, only on the open shop terms which were being offered to men now being employed to replace the strikers.

Earlier in the day, Loton Horton, president of the Sheffield Farms company, another large distributing corporation, had agreed at a meeting with 15 representatives of Sheffield strikers in Dr. Copeland's office that his company would draft a contract, to be offered independently to the Sheffield strikers tomorrow.

URGE JAP PRINCE FORM NEW CABINET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Attempts to induce Prince Saloni to form a new cabinet are being made at Tokio, according to unofficial cablegrams received in Washington by Japanese who have gathered here for the conference.

Prince Saloni is 77 years old and his health may prevent his acceptance. In that event, it is said, the Guy to be elected at Tokio that the task of naming a new cabinet would fall upon T. Noda, the present minister of communications, or upon Viscount Takahashi, the minister of finance who is well known in the U. S. through his visit here at the time of the Russo-Japanese war.

All three of the above men are prominent in the Seiyukai, or government party.

BRAND CALLS ON WILSON.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Premier Brand called upon former Pres. Wilson Thursday, but was informed that Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were out. Mr. Brand left his card. Mr. Brand, M. Sarrau, M. Earlier in the day the French Premier had gone to the capitol and laid a wreath of flowers at the bier of the unknown soldier.

ARMISTICE MESSAGE PENNY BY M'NIDER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—National Commander MacNider, of the American Legion, addressed the following Armistice day message to all department posts and members of the legion:

"In our celebration of Armistice day it is fitting that we pause and do honor to the heroic dead, those glorious lads of ours who made this day possible; one of rejoicing for the whole world.

"Nov. 11, 1918, should not mean the end of our service to our country, but the beginning. We of the American Legion have pledged ourselves to those buddies of ours who will never come back to carry on the battle for the principles for which they died. We feel that would be their wish and our inspiration shall be the thought of them and those of our comrades who are disabled and sick and who must live the war forever.

"If the legion is to be a real power in good in America, we must put behind it the same high, fine, unselfish spirit which characterized these men's service. If we can do that, and we owe it to them to do it, no man need ever fear for the future of America."

HEIRS FIGHT FOR SOUTH SEA ISLE

Descendants of Disinherited Princess Now After Fortune and Land.

ARVADA, Colo., Nov. 12.—A vigorous legal battle for a portion of the huge estate which includes the cannibal island of Ogau, one of the Fiji group, will be waged by Mrs. E. P. Nolte, of this village, before it passes into the possession of Mrs. Louis Landrock, of Omaha, Neb., who, it is claimed, has already left for the South Sea island to establish her claim to the estate.

The estate, surrounded by romance, and handed down by Prince Wolfert Wobbert of Holland, nearly three centuries ago, is finding new claimants in various sections of the country, and international complications may develop before an agreement is reached that will result in a satisfactory and equitable distribution of the legacy, the value of which is estimated to exceed $10,000,000.

In addition to the money involved, the title of "Queen of the Cannibal Isle" hangs in the balance, awaiting settlement of the vast estate.

Princess Revolted.
Mrs. Nolte, wife of a prosperous rancher here, declares that she has equal claims with Mrs. Landrock to the island, with its great groves of coconut, pineapple and breadfruit palms, coral reefs gleaming pink along the shores, and plantations of sugar and rubber trees, all within the princely domain.

A romance that shows princesses revolted at parental decrees long before the days of the modern suffragist is responsible for the contest that threatens now to break all records for claims and counter-claims in the annals of disputed inheritances.

The story of the origin of the $10,000,000 estate as related by Mrs. Nolte, tells how Prince Wolfert Wobbert, inherited because his daughter Anneka perished in her love affair and married out of royalty, bequeathed her share of his island possession to the "seventh generation of her descent." That was in 1684.

Mrs. Landrock, who, with her husband, is reported to have left her Omaha home and started for the island of Ogau, despite rumors that cannibals infest the South Sea island, is said to be of the "seventh generation."

Left Throne For Love.
Mrs. Nolte declares that she is also of the "seventh generation" from the Princess Anneka, who relinquished a throne for love.

Then Mrs. Nolte learned that Mrs. Landrock was leaving the United States for Ogau to claim the estate she announced her intention of immediately beginning a legal contest for the fortune.

"By what right does she go to take possession of this island when there are others who are also of the 'seventh generation' from the Dutch princess?" Mrs. Nolte demanded.

"I do not understand how Mrs. Landrock, of all of us, is to be the only one to receive a share of this estate," Mrs. Nolte said. "I am of the 'seventh generation' and can prove it."

Threads of descent from Princess Anneka have been followed with great persistence because of the gigantic prize that will fall to the "seventh generation." The world war that upset even neutral Holland postponed some of the legal fireworks that will be displayed in the many-sided contest for the millions left by Prince Wobbert.
